Proposes to Bring State Superentendents of Neighbor States Here During Teachers Convention.

Alvin N. White, state superintendent of education, who spent last night in Albuquerque, has a plan to add another and an important department to the work of the state teachers' association which meets in annual convention in thin city November. Mr. White ment invitations to the state: operintendents of all the neighin Albuquerque during the teachers' convention for work department of state superintendents.

Tentative plans for this confernce were discussed by the superintendents from New Mexico, Colorade I'tah and Arizona at the National association conventiin St. Paul this month and Mr. White expects the superintendents of oven or eight of the Rocky mountain states to attend the first meeting here. Later other meetings will be held in the other states.

Active plans for the teachers' convention, Mr. White says, will soon Thus far no definite Rotel Combs tast night by Rev. C.
